Other attorneys who signed the motion included Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist and Tom A. Renick for the state, and C. A. Leist for the defendant.

Toss Grapefruit
At Rudy Vallee

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Rudy Vallee, popular radio and night club crooner and orchestra leader, today proved that he could take praise and criticism—or a grapefruit—with the same air of nonchalance.

While crooning to a hushed audience at a local theater last night, someone tossed a large yellow product of nature from the second balcony, it landed on the stage, stopping against the cymbal of the drummer in the pit.

Unperturbed, Vallee continued his song. After finishing, he told the audience that while he knew he could not please everyone, those who did not like his singing, need not have come.

STATE HUNTING
TRAIN BANDITS

Six Men Disappear Near Bellefontaine After Holding Up Big Four.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Jan. 23.—While every community in this section pressed their efforts today in the search for the perpetrators of a daring train robbery near here, the six armed desperadoes continued to successfully elude the officers.

The six bandits vanished shortly after the robbery, as the train slowed down for the Bellefontaine station, escaping without leaving a single clue.

The robbers, masked and armed, confined their operations to one pullman coach on the Big Four passenger-train enroute from Detroit to Cincinnati.

OPTIMISM IS
PLEA OF GAY

State University Man Says Farmers Should Look Up In Rotary Address.

In his talk on "Farming before the Rotary Club Thursday noon, Dr. Carl W. Gay of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Ohio State University stated that "Optimism and not pessimism should be sounded during the present conditions."

Agriculture has suffered from a breaking down of the morale of the farmers, and the note of optimism is a better remedy than the cry of pessimism. Farming, like many other industries is out of balance and needs reorganization to get back on an even keel.

Now is the time for the farmers to cull their stock, he said, for it is very unprofitable to try to make a profit with unprofitable animals. Stop the leaks, get more efficiency on the farm and the farmers will be in much better shape to stand the hard times and make more money in good times. Farming is the basic industry of the world, and its size makes it necessary to get more business principles in its operations, were a few of Gay's statements.

75 MEN MAY

Service Director Plans Sewer Construction In Main-Mound-sts

MAY BORROW MONEY

State Nearly Ready To Begin Paving of Roads

Possibility that about 75 unemployed residents of this city will go to work within the next weeks was expressed Friday by L. E. Miller, city service director. It is necessary for the city to install sanitary sewers in E. Main and E. Mound-sts from Mingo-st to the corporation lines within a short time and Miller is of the belief that the work can be done almost immediately.

According to law it is necessary to sell bonds for work of this kind which requires a certain period of time for advertising etc., but Miller this week put it up to city council that the money for the project could possibly be obtained through the cooperation of city banks on notes of 90 days duration during which time advertising for sale of bonds could be done. This would put the men needed to work several weeks before they would get to work otherwise.

DEMAND LOCAL LABOR
It is understood that the contract for the work can include a clause which makes local labor necessary as far as it is possible. Miller says that on the two jobs at least 75 men can be used.

Whether the plan to go ahead with the work while sale of bonds is being advertised is according to law or not has not been determined.

The state is planning to pave E. Main-st on the Adelphi-pk to the corporation limit and will start on this work as soon as the city completes its sanitary sewer in the street. This is another reason for haste in completing the sewer construction.

STATE TO WORK

The state, through the efforts of J. Howard Sweetman, county engineer, has entered into a contract with the city to pave entrances to the city from three sides; W. Main-st, between the river bridge and the Norfolk and Western railroad; E. Main-st from the corporation limit on the Lancaster to the foot of the street, and E. Main-st from the corporation line on the Adelphi-pk to Main and Mingo-sts.

It is understood that the state highway department is planning on starting these projects as soon as possible.

Love Laughs at Prison Bars

Cupid has once more demonstrated that nothing can hold him back—not even iron bars. When Robert J. Michaels (above) of Pasadena, Calif., was recently convicted of forgery and sentenced to from on to ten years in Kansas penitentiary, he and his girl friend, Frankie Burleigh, of Kansas City, decided that it was time to marry. With a local attorney and an undersheriff as witnesses, the knot was tied. Then the groom went back to his cell.

Referendum Is Asked By Cadman In Church Talk

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—Nearly a thousand ministers, laymen, church women and educators were enroute to their homes today following the close of three church conventions which brought many nationally-famous speakers and church leaders from all parts of the country to Ohio's capital.

The three meetings were the twelfth annual Ohio Pastors' convention, the fourth annual Ohio Conference of church women and the third annual Ohio Laymen's convention. The pastors' convention opened Monday and the other conclaves convened on Tuesday.

At the closing session of the pastors' group Thursday evening, several hundred clergymen conducted their final discussion period which was conducted by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, noted radio preacher and former president of the Federal council of churches.

Dr. Cadman told the group that he favored a national referendum on the eighteenth amendment and the prohibition law. The Wickersham report on prohibition, he said, shows a violent state of mind on the question, and a variety of bon-fide.

"Prohibition lost ground after our first fatal trust to legislation and the falling off of our efforts in education on the subject," he declared. "Ninety-five percent of all lasting reform is gained through education."

The only way to check the large number of divorces in the United States is to begin teaching the children in the home and through adolescence in the teachings of Jesus, the noted clergyman stated. He said that was inclined to make marriage a sacrament in the church just as baptism.

"Responsibility is the greatest lesson young people of today need to learn," Dr. Cadman said. "The world is growing better if you take the longitudinal view of it. Taking men from 10,000 years ago to the present day, we can see the world has grown better. Especially since the world war, we have become a better, yet sadder and disillusioned world."

He listed future policies of European nations, especially those of Italy, Russia and Germany, as potential threats to world peace.

"We should tell our statesmen to find some other means of settling their disputes than by war," Dr. Cadman concluded.

Reverberations Of Report Continue To Harass U. S. Administration

TO CALL COMMISSION

Sen. Fess Shares In Criticisms Of Group Report

By William K. Hutchinson
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Reverberations of the Wickersham commission's amazing prohibition report continued to harass the Hoover administration on Capitol Hill today as the wet bloc renewed its drive to shed more light on how the commission reached its conclusion.

The wets, though defeated in the first parliamentary clash over the report, were determined to learn whether Mr. Hoover influenced the commission to change a wet recommendation into an endorsement of the eighteenth amendment. The wets suffered defeat though when the senate voted a $543,000 appropriation to place 130 more dry agents in the department of justice in accordance with the commission's recommendation for a larger enforcement army.

BLAME HOOVER

The battle of the wets rallied around the Tydings resolution an inquiry into Mr. Hoover's connection with the final report. To this proposed inquiry was linked a demand for publication of all the Continued on Page 5, Col. 3.

FARIS HEADS
DRY FORCES

Lynchburg Man Named Prohibition Chief Succeeding Rupert Beetham.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—Leadership of Ohio's prohibition department today was transferred from a Republican to a Democrat—L. F. Faris, of Lynchburg, Highland-co.

Governor White's appointment of a successor to Rupert R. Beetham, of Cadiz, Republican who remained at the head of the department until the governor reviewed comparative qualifications of all the candidates, was announced last night.

Faris, former chief inspector of the federal prohibition enforcement for Ohio, will confer with Mr. White Monday to decide on a policy.

Objection to more than 20 inspectors being allowed on the state payroll probably will be voiced to Governor White before that time by wets. The original law said inspectors must be limited to 20, but under an emergency clause in the Miller law that number has been exceeded.

At least 67 are on the payroll. Senator Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland, wet leader, says.

Faris comes into the White cabinet with a previous record of public service. He was secretary of the state civil service commission for a time under former Governor James M. Cox and was an assistant clerk in the house of representatives.

During the early part of the Wilson administration he was a deputy clerk in the internal revenue department and became chief Ohio prohibition inspector when prohibition was enacted.

Faris is president of the First National Bank of Lynchburg and president of the House Building Association there. The position pays $5,000 a year.

MURDER, SUICIDE
IN PUTNAM-Co

OTTAWA, O., Jan. 23.—Another double murder and suicide tragedy was written in the annals of Putnam-co today following the finding of three bodies at the home of the victim—near here.

The dead were Ezra Provant, 30-year-old farmer, his wife Anna, 29, and their daughter Helen 5. It was believed that the tragedy occurred Thursday morning although it was not discovered until yesterday when Miss Maude Andrews, a sister of Mrs. Provant, and Seth Parker, a friend, called at the home near Continental, northwest of Ottawa.

George White Leaves Tonight For New York To Attend Session

DEPRESSION TOPIC

Five Other Executives Of Eastern States Take Part

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Governors of seven eastern states were to assemble here today for a three-day session to map a far-reaching program co-ordinating governmental agencies to guard against future industrial depressions and consequent unemployment conditions.

In inviting the executives of six other states to confer with him, Governor Roosevelt expressed conviction there was much that could be done if states would co-operate toward prevention of a repetition of present conditions.

"I believe that eastern states are doing their best now to relieve present conditions but the important thing is to plan against future recurrence," Roosevelt said.

INVITE EXECUTIVES

Chief executives invited to the conference by Roosevelt were Governors Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, Norman S. Chase of Rhode Island, Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut, Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey, George White of Ohio and Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

The latest data on the subjects to be considered by the governors will be laid before the conference by a group of noted economic and industrial experts.

Chief topics to be discussed, Governor Roosevelt said, would include:

Expenditures for public works as relief and prevention of unemployment.

Creation of public employment exchanges and interchange of their reports between states.

Unemployment reserves as preventive or palliative in periods of economic depression.

Administration of public employment relief.

Uniformity of labor, factory and workmen's compensation laws.

Uniformity of taxation on industries in effort to prevent states from competing with each other in securing new industries.

ARE IMPORTANT

"Matters of relief or prevention of unemployment are of such overwhelming importance at this moment that it is proposed that these should be discussed in the early part of the session, leaving labor, compensation and industrial taxation to the latter part of the conference," Governor Roosevelt said.

Today's session at the capitol was to be open to the public but tomorrow governors and experts were to confer privately at the executive mansion. On Sunday conclusions will be drafted and each governor will return to his own state to discuss whatever plans may be agreed upon with members of his cabinet.

WHITE TO LEAVE

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—Governor George White will leave tonight for Albany, N. Y., to attend the conference of governors, called by Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York's chief executive.

To discuss plans for relieving and preventing unemployment. He will return to Columbus Monday.

'BIG JIM' MORTON
TO BE RELEASED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—An early release from Ohio Penitentiary of James "Big Jim" Morton, notorious Cleveland bank robber, appeared probable today following the action of the Board of Clemency in continuing his application for parole for only two months.

Concident with this action of the clemency board, Laston G. Schooley, jr., 26 son of a former Cleveland councilman, was granted a parole effective Feb. 10. Schooley entered the "big house" in March 1929 to serve from one to ten years for fraud in connection with the purchase of Cleveland park land.

PUMPKIN SHOW
CHANGES MADE
AT MEET HERE

Lee Shaner Named to Succeed John D. Hummel; Parrett Replaced Fricke

KRINN VICE PRES.

Several Members Ask To Have Date Advanced

Several important changes in the organization were made at the annual meeting of the Circleville Pumpkin Show association held at the city building Thursday evening.

Changes in the organization announced Friday are Lee T. Shaner succeeding John D. Hummel as director of Dept. 2, poultry and livestock; Thomas D. Krinn replacing Hummel as vice-president of the society; Mack Parrett, jr., succeeding E. C. Fricke as secretary of the society and Sterling H. Lamb being named assistant to the secretary.

These changes were announced by Mayor B. T. Hedges, who by virtue of his office is president of the society.

Hummel has been connected with the show for a number of years and Fricke has been secretary for a long period.

The complete organization of the Pumpkin Show society is as follows:

Mayor B. T. Hedges, president ex-officio; T. D. Krinn, vice-president; T. F. Jeffries, treasurer; Mack Parrett, jr., secretary; Sterling H. Lamb, assistant secretary; Director of Dept. 1, T. F. Wallace Crist; Dept. 4, C. E. Howard; Dept. 5, M. C. Warren; Dept. 6, L. J. Johnson; Dept. 7, T. D. Krinn and Dept. 8, Frank A. Lynch.

The meeting, besides naming officers, was for discussion of the past show and of plans for the show this coming fall. Several of the directors are of the opinion that the show should be placed one week ahead of the Fairgrounds fair at Lancaster because of possible inclement weather after the Lancaster show, while other directors do not believe the show should be moved up. No definite date has yet been set pending an investigation of other fair dates throughout central Ohio.

It is planned to have the office of the secretary placed in the city building during the show this coming fall for the purpose giving service to directors of the show and any others at all times. Either the secretary or his assistant will be in the office at all times during the show, according to present plans.

Club Loses To New Lexington In Tight Game

EARLY LEAD IS OVERCOME BY COMPANY F OUTFIT, 22 TO 17

Club Leads at Half 10-6 But Block Play of Harrop and Swackhammer Causes Downfall—Series Between Two Teams Even With Third To Be Played at New Lexington—Swackhammer, Pickens and Merriman Tie For High Score.

Gradually erasing a C. A. C. lead until they drew abreast then went into a lead which they protected until the final whistle, New Lexington's Company F basketball team led by Nolan Swackhammer and Freddie Lowe, defeated the Club aggregation Thursday evening. The score was 22-17 and although the game was hotly contested it was not a crowd pleaser because of tight defensive play of both teams.

Not before this season has the defense of both teams been so close. Only 16 points were scored in the first half, the Club leading 10-6 at the end of the half.

New Lexington was given only a few open shots in the first half and when Reichley and Swackhammer failed to connect for free throws the Club took advantage and went into a lead. The first period ended in a tie, 5-5, Reichley's foul shot was the only point New Lexington could get in the second period while Pickens' long shot and foul and Merriman's goal gave the Club five points and a 10-6 lead.

CUT CLUB LEAD
With Bonifield breaking loose for two goals and Swackhammer doing some scoring New Lexington cut the Club lead until at the end of the third period the local team was leading 15-14. Merriman's shot close in and Pickens' net-cut from back of the foul-line gave the Club its four counters.

And in the fourth period it was just too bad. Steele's two free throws was all the Club could get while Lowe hit a long shot, Harrop and Reichley scored fouls and Swackhammer hit for two goals to give the visitors the victory.

It was the work of a Laurelville boy, Nolan Swackhammer, that did the dirty work to the Club. With he and Harrop working perfect block play the miniature tossers broke loose several times to score goals. He counted four goals and three free throws to lead the scorers.

Pickens and Merriman tied for the Club lead in scoring each hitting for two goals and a free throw. Steele failed to connect for a goal although he counted four fouls. Parks did the rest of the scoring with a goal and foul. Wallace's play of the mammoth Harrop was mighty nice, the big fellow failing to score a field goal although he hit one foul.

In the two games these two teams have played the Club holds an edge of one point. Several weeks ago the local team defeated New Lexington 24-18.

Chick Pearce handled the game in nice style.

KID BERG RISKS TITLE TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Jack "Kid" Berg, junior welterweight champion of the world, risks his title tonight in a ten round bout with Goldie Hess of Los Angeles at the Chicago stadium.

On the same program at the stadium another champion, 'Bat' Battalino, custodian of the featherweight crown, will meet Eddie Shea of Chicago. Battalino's championship will not be jeopardized in his bout with Shea.

Although Berg will enter the ring a heavy favorite, according to early indications today, the Californian is expected to give him a heavy run for the ten rounds. Berg has not boxed in almost six months a factor in Hess' favor.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 23.—The athletic board of control of Indiana University will meet here tomorrow night to pass on the resignation of H. O. (Pat) Page, head football coach. It was announced today by Chairman W. J. Moenkhaus.

Acceptance of Page's resignation is looked for inasmuch as the football mentor was requested to resign. S. G. Hayes, varsity track and freshmen football coach at Indiana, has been prominently mentioned for Page's position.

OHIO STATE SOPHOMORES

HINCHMAN—FORWARD

PAULSEY—CENTER

MATTISON—CENTER

HOFFER—GUARD

LIVELY—FORWARD

This group of newcomers is contributing not a little to Ohio State's success in Basketball this winter. The men coached by H. G. Olsen are proving mighty tough in Conference competition and should have an enviable record at the end of the season.

Lewis Hinchman and Robert Lively have practically assured themselves permanent berths at the forward positions while Howard Mattison has been getting the call at the center post.

Brooks Paulsey has been used quite a bit in the center of the floor while Joe Hoffer has proved a reliable guard. Since all of these men have two full years of competition after the present season, prospects are bright for the Bucks in 1932 and '33.

NAME LEADER OF GOLF TEAM

Whitcombe to Lead British Ryder Cup Team Against United States.

LONDON, Jan. 23. Charles A. Whitcombe, noted British professional, has been chosen to captain the British team of golfers to meet the United States pro's in the Ryder cup match at Columbus, O., in June next. Announcement of Whitcombe's appointment was made following a meeting of the professional golfers' association.

The appointment has come as a surprise to the mass of British golfers, although his fellow professional regard Whitcombe as the best and most dependable player in the country.

Not only is Whitcombe the match-play champion of Britain, but he is also Irish open champion.

He has displaced George Duncan in the captaincy. Duncan, it will be recalled, led the British team to victory at Moortown 2 years ago. Not because of his playing ability, but because of his undoubted qualities as a leader, it was expected Duncan would again be appointed captain of the side.

Duncan, however, has accepted the appointment of Whitcombe in good part and told interviewers he would play under Whitcombe if appointed a member of the British Ryder cup team. "Whitcombe has been the best golfer in Britain for the past two years," Duncan said, "and because of his position he is entitled to the captaincy."

CORDON TIRES TRIM GUILD 5

Rally After Poor First Half To Turn Back Columbus Outfit 37-19.

After a slow start which found them leading only 13-12 at the end of the first half, the Cordon Tires court team came through splendidly in the second half to defeat the Columbus Guild A. C. team Thursday evening, 37-19. The Guild team, a settlement house aggregation, had only a few good ball players and had the pass-work of the Cordon club clicked in the first half like it did in the second the score might have been much higher.

Starting the shock troops, the Gordons could not function in the first few minutes and the first stringers, Robinson, D. White, Barnes and H. White went into the game with Jaggy Davis remaining in the lineup. Still this organization didn't work and after the lead had alternated numerous times the Gordons took a one-point lead at the end of the half.

In the second half with D. White and Davis at forwards, Barnes at center and H. White and Robinson at guards, the Cordon team offensive began to click and it was too bad.

Howard White, with six goals, all in the second half, led the scorers.

MAKE PARISH TOUR

Last Sunday afternoon a motoring party of 45 people of Emmett Chapel made a tour of part of the Chillicothe Larger M. E. Parish.

The chorus choir of Emmett Chapel sang several appropriate numbers accompanied by the Emmett orchestra under the direction of Miss Gladys Rader. Mrs. Cliff Miller gave a special solo. A programme was given at 1:45 at Bishop Hill to a crowded church. The programme was repeated at Chne Chapel at 4:00.

These services gave inspiration that will not soon be forgotten. On next Sunday morning they are guests of Crouse chapel Sunday school that is meeting in Centralia School.

They will give another fine programme there at ten.

A good text for a safety sermon: "What Shall I Do To Be Saved?"

Deibel died in Grant Hospital late Thursday night, nearly 24 hours after the accident. Paul Rose, 34, was seriously burned but physicians said he would recover.

SCREENDOM PAYS ACTRESS TRIBUTE

HOOLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 23.—Screenom today paid homage at the bier of one of its prominent members, Alma Rubens.

The body of the black-haired actress who rose to motion picture fame in her twenties lay in state today at a Hollywood mortuary where hundreds of the film great and near-great gathered to pay their last respects.

Death came to Miss Rubens Wednesday night following a short illness which started with bronchial-trouble and finally developed into pneumonia.

Funeral services for Miss Rubens are to be held at the Little Church of the Flowers in Glendale at 1 p. m. Saturday. The final rites are to be public.

Following the ceremony Miss Rubens' body will be sent to Fresno, Calif. for interment there in the Rubens' family crypt.

SUSPECTS HELD IN BOMB CASES

BUENOS AIRES—Triple bomb explosions which occurred almost simultaneously in three railroad terminals here, killing four persons and injuring 12 others, were under investigation by government and railway officials today.

Three of the victims were killed instantly by the blast at the Western railroad terminus, and one of the injured succumbed during the night.

Authorities were mystified as to the cause of the bombing, but were inclined to believe they were the work of anarchists. Police rounded up a number of suspects and held them for questioning.

The victims were railway employees, killed when a leather handbag brought into the office of the station agent was opened by him with the ensuing explosion. Bystanders were injured.

The second blast took place in the coaches of a train of Southern railway terminus, resulting in injuries to several persons.

The third bomb exploded in a train coach as it was starting out of the Central Argentine terminal. The coach was shattered and six persons were hurt.

LONDON—Sir William J. Barry, former director of naval construction, charged in an article that all 10,000-ton cruisers built since the Washington conference are "unfit to fight." He stated their armor was too thin to resist a "single salvo of shells."

for Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the national Republican committee. Fess also expressed his "honest belief" that "the president is not opposed definitely to revision of the prohibition laws," during an interview here following his address last night before the Pierce Business School graduating class.

The president's message transmitted with the Wickersham commission's report to Congress has been "misinterpreted," the Ohio Senator said. "He did not register opposition to any possible revision of the 18th amendment, but he did express absolute disapproval of the specific revised text of the amendment as suggested by the commission in its recommendations and conclusions."

The suggested amendment as made in the report, President Hoover believes, would make national prohibition that football of politics at every political convention, Fess asserted. For this reason the president opposed the suggestion.

Although the Ohio senator had been a visitor to the White House after the Wickersham report was transmitted to Congress and has often been termed the president's spokesman, he denied that his explanations of the president's attitude were inspired.

"Of course, I am now giving you only my opinion, but I know the president's mind on these matters," said Fess. "The president is only opposed to the form of revision recommended in the Wickersham report. He does not wish a revision that would throw the whole wet and dry question into congress."

"The president's view is that the prohibition problem is social and economic and should not become a mere matter of politics."

"Of course, the president is opposed to repeal of the 18th amendment," Fess continued, "But I am sure he would not be opposed to its revision if such revision did not place the burden of responsibility in the problem on congressmen."

Fess said he had been misquoted in statements accredited to him in Washington.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay.—Although the counting of ballots will not be completed for another week, the count to date indicates that Dr. Gabriel Terra of the aggressive Colorado party will be Uruguay's next president. The election was held Nov. 30.

BUENOS AIRES.—Sweltering heat for the past three days has considerably slowed business and other activity here, the thermometer averaging 93 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade. The spectacular increase in murders and suicides since Sunday has been blamed on the summer scorch.

BALBOA, C. Z.—A $32,000,000 decrease in tolls appears likely for the present fiscal year in Panama Canal receipts if the low ebb in traffic continues. The daily average number of ships passing through the locks the first two weeks in January has been 15.23, far below normal.

ROME.—The largest annual increase ever recorded was shown in population figures of Italy for the year 1930. There was a gain of 515,000 persons, or 12.3 per thousand. The previous high record was a gain of 406,000 in 1928.

LONDON.—Dominion flags will soon fly alongside the Union Jack over official residences of governors general in the British dominions. King George has approved proposals for dominion flags, but most designs have not yet been accepted.

PARIS.—The municipal council of Paris plans to spend $60,000 this spring replacing those of the 87,000 trees lining boulevards and avenues which are suffering from the effects of gasoline fumes and other harmful elements. A harder variety of tree will be planted.

MANAGUA.—A boundary treaty has been signed between Honduras and Nicaragua, according to an announcement by foreign minister Irias of Nicaragua, the pact settled an old dispute between the two countries.

ROME.—A portrait of Dante as a young man has been discovered in the church of St. Dominic at Pistoia, behind one of the altars. Authorities believe it was painted in the fourteenth century, making it one of the oldest portraits of Dante in existence.

secret evidence gathered by the commission on the subject of prohibition crimes and dry law enforcement. Some of the evidence was reported to be extremely sensational.

Senator Tydings (D) of Maryland, wet leader, who introduced the inquiry resolution, said he would amend it to include a demand for the commission's secret reports, correspondence and records. He declared the country was entitled to know the fact on which seven of the 11 commissioners individually declared in favor of repealing or revising the eighteenth amendment.

The wets charged the administration with trying to block an inquiry into the commission's activities.

CALL COMMISSION
"We ought to call all members of the commission before a senate committee," said Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin. "If this report had been submitted to Congress as originally drawn by a majority of seven members. There would be no difficulty in reconciling the commission's conclusions with the individual opinions. But the form finally submitted contains discrepancies that can never be reconciled."

"The administration has revealed it intends to block an inquiry into how these changes occurred. I at least assume it will block a vote, since a course was indicated by our floor leader."

Blaine referred to an objection by Senator Watson, Republican floor leader, who blocked action on the resolution yesterday.

Wet criticism of the report was even shared by Senator Simeon D. Fess, noted dry leader and Republican national chairman. Fess said he was "quite pleased" with the commission's conclusion (endorsing the 18th amendment) but was "tremendously disappointed" with the individual opinions.

LONDON.—The British war office is convinced that films and books dealing in realistic manner with war horrors are chiefly responsible for a shortage of more than 10,000 in army recruits. The established peace time strength of the British army ordinarily totals 193,000 men.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua.—National guard headquarters, Somoto and Palacaguan, both located in Nueva Segovia, reported concentrated attacks against them by bandits armed with machine rifles and machine guns. While the attackers were believed to have suffered heavy casualties, only one guard member was wounded.

SAO PAULO.—Brazilian authorities have determined to deal drastically with Communist agitators. A number of them have been sentenced to the penal prison at Fernando Do Noronha; foreigners arrested on Red charges will be deported.

Wickersham Report
SEVERAL days of digesting its multitudinous findings, recommendations and reservations and arguing pros and cons of the subject qualify the laity for arriving at some conclusions of its own regarding the report of the Wickersham commission.
The first of these curbstone conclusions is that the commission got just where everybody said it would get when the president promised in 1928 to turn the prohibition problem over to a commission for a study and solution. Nowhere.
In recommending one thing as a whole and several other diametrically opposite things as individuals,
the commission merely went on record as being as hopelessly divided on the question as are the voters both active and passive. It was a compromise report which both wet and dry can, and will, quote
to his own purpose.
President Hoover's position is hardly improved by the report.
While it permitted him to "base"
his recommendations to congress upon the report, the report is not convincing to the public, and, after all, there is where the solution must come from if it ever comes.
Government by commission fails utterly when 10 members of a commission of 117 submit a report recommending certain things and then present reservations undermining their own report. This is making a travesty of the Hoover-ian theory of administration.
What effect it will have on congress no one can tell. Perhaps both sides will take encouragement from it, if they are optimists. It is more likely that congress will ignore the report as blowing both hot and cold. The only particular in which the commission is in complete agreement is on the urgent need for revision of the clause in the prohibition law giving concurrent power to the state and nation, but the president has discouraged even this change at this time.
Government by commission has not solved the problem. Can the president and congress?

Drive Carefully!
ACTUAL post-mortems over the dead but engaging body of 1930 are now pouring in great profusion and confusion from the pens and pencils of statisticians and executive secretaries and from government, association and committee printing presses.
Of statistical reviews, questionnaires and surveys there is an obnoxious superfluity, yet there is not a newspaper reader who reads no farther than the headlines telling of the toll in human lives and injuries and property loss taken by motor vehicles in 1930. As alternative pedestrians and passengers these figures strike home with more than ordinary force.
Motor vehicle mileage dropped 10 per cent last year due to the business depression, yet automobile accidents increased 12 per cent over the preceding twelvemonth.
The appalling figures are 32,500
dead, 960,000 injured, $300,000,000 in insurance claims paid and an incalculable amount of property loss.
There are lessons aplenty in these staggering statistics. What of the human lives snuffed out, the bodies maimed, crippled and disfigured, the economic loss through destroyed property and loss of earnings the crushing burden upon hospitals, the effect upon the motor industry? While the greater burden is borne by the motoring public, the whole population suffers indirectly—the careful or fortunate driver must pay insurance rates forced up by the careless and every economic loss is eventually distributed over the widest area.
These facts cry out to every driver and pedestrian to be more careful in 1931.

Inadequate Highways
GASOLINE taxes accomplish three things. They add to the tax burden of some millions of people, build and maintain highways and provide the only yardstick by which the annual wear and tear on the nation's roads can be measured.
The average motor vehicle owner paid $18 in gasoline taxes last year. With an average gas tax rate of 3.39 cents per gallon, the average consumption per vehicle was 531 gallons, and with an average gas mileage for the nation's motor vehicles, gives the total mileage of motor vehicles on the country's highways in 1930—149, 000,000 miles.
That represents a vast amount of wear and tear on a highway system of 3,000,000 miles, of which only 32,500 miles are paved. It ex-

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.
Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, wants to keep her newest beau, Mat Tully, all to herself. Returning from a ride she leaves him at the door to avoid her mother's questionings and her sister's stares. Later Mrs. Hollenbeck warns Nancy against her own mistake of marrying a poor man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
NANCY DECIDES TO BREAK WITH MAT
CHAPTER III.
ALL that night, while a restless wind rattled the stiff leaves of the magnolia tree,
and blew the heavy sweet scent
of stock and jasmine and mama's winty Spanish roses through the wide open windows, Nancy tossed in bed.
If, like Romeo of old, Mat Tully had come softly back through the garden, and showed a dark head at her window, Nancy's story would have been different. She would have gone with him then, had he asked her, without a backward
look for the disapproving family.
But he didn't come, of course.
He had said not a word to her of love. "Maybe he doesn't care
as much as I do," she thought, thrashing about hopelessly. "Maybe it's just as people say, and I'm just in love with love!"
She felt cheated then, and cried
a little in the dark. The lumpy mattress sagged under her slight weight, the too-short sheet worked down, so that the rough blanket scratched her neck.
Oh for NICE things! A boudoir like May Belle Craig's, with exotic lacquered furniture, and a silk, downy quilt.

Just Forget
"Why shouldn't I have them as well as May Belle? Why do we have to be so poor? Why do I have to go and fall in love with somebody who's poor too?" And then, rebelliously, "Well—I won't get over it. I'll just put him out of my mind. I won't see him again. I'll just... forget him..."
She wept then. Broken-heartedly. But the tears were for herself, not Mat Tully. After all, she had been spoiled. She was only nineteen. Love had touched her but lightly.

"Mat" Nancy Hollenbeck's
voice, lifting and lovely, came
carefully over the wire, and all
the irritation he had felt at being
disturbed at the busiest moment
of a busy day disappeared... puff!
as suddenly flimsy as a soap bubble.
"Mat" Nancy Hollenbeck's
voice, lifting and lovely, came
carefully over the wire, and all
the irritation he had felt at being
disturbed at the busiest moment
of a busy day disappeared... puff!
as suddenly flimsy as a soap bubble.

"Yes, this is Mat!" His voice, clipped and disinterested a minute ago before he knew who it was, changed miraculously. He moved a little nearer to the phone. "Say, this is great! How did you know where to call me? This is a pretty big old university, full of laboratories..."
"Oh, I told them I just had to have Mat! I told them who was working on dry old chemistry research..."
"You did!"
"Yes, I did, and I said it was terribly important..."
"Of course it's important. It's always important to hear from you. What time am I going to see you tonight?"
The experiment he had been tending to absorbedly scolded in its frail glass tube, but he had forgotten about it. He remembered only Nancy, Nancy with the hair that was the color of bronze, and smelled like spice, Nancy whose lips were red and promising, whose skin was soft and white.

And her voice came, sweeter than ever, "Oh, that's why I phoned. Mat, I'm so sorry. But I can't go. No, really I can't. I can't possibly!"
Before he had exhausted half of his arguments she escaped, pleading that she just couldn't keep him from work another minute, and he was left with the ruined experiment—some three weeks of patient work gone up in smoke—and a sneaking suspicion that he had been made a fool of.
Disappointment
"If that's the way she feels about it, ALL RIGHT!" He went back to work with a vengeance.
But nothing progressed as it should, so he stopped and lit his pipe and sat there in the small, littered lab, trying to concentrate on the rows of figures on the yellow checked paper that represented so many hours of patient
labor.
It wasn't easy to put Nancy out of mind, once you had seen her.
She was too vital, too disturbingly alive. Too softly, fragrantly lovely.

He kept remembering the absurd way her eyelashes curled back, the way her hair twined itself around your fingers when you touched it—soft, babyish ringlets. The cagey little way she laughed.
"If I wish I'd never set eyes on her!" he growled, staring at the cloudy, penciled yellow spots,
and seeing Nancy instead.
"I never heard of anything so silly!" Louise Hollenbeck, a friend, coming in just in time to see Nancy hang up the receiver, and burst into tears. "If you wanted to go, why didn't you? Making up a great big lie, and then crying about it!"
"Mama," Nancy wailed, "Mama spoiled everything. I never saw him again. Never!"
"How could mama spoil it?"
"I argued against spending public funds on temporary construction.

Guard Baby From the "Catching" Diseases

—Make Caution the Family Watchword

Kissing Or Exposure May Result in Passing On to the Infant Germs of Contagious Diseases, Warns Authority, Urging Preventive Measures

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

GREAT care must be taken to guard the baby from the germs of the contagious, or "catching" diseases. It is a very easy matter to pass on to a young child the germs of diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough or any other of the contagious diseases. They may come from one who has the disease, or from one who habitually spreads the germs, a so-called "carrier". Every precaution should be taken to protect the baby from contact with the discharges from the nose and throat of another member of the family. It should be guarded against those who are coughing and sneezing. Kissing the child should be for bidden.

There are certain symptoms of sickness in a baby that every mother should be on the lookout for at all times. This is particularly true in the winter months, when the contagious diseases are most prevalent. After a baby has been near some one who has had scarlet fever, diphtheria or whooping cough, or other disease, the following symptoms may occur:

In scarlet fever there is sudden sickness within five or ten days after exposure. Vomiting, a red sore throat, high fever and hot dry skin; together with chills are not uncommon. After a day or two come small, bright red spots close together, on the skin, and cover most of the body.

Whooping cough must be considered a serious ailment. From a week to two weeks after exposure there is illness which slowly increases. There is a slight cold, a running nose and a hard and dry cough. This turns to a choking cough and ends in a wheezing sharp sound, the familiar "whoop" that most every one has heard. When it occurs the child's face becomes violently red and he gasps for breath. Whooping is a long drawn out and wearing out process.

Diphtheria is a disease that once was looked upon as a scourge and took a terrible toll of life. The first belief was that it was a cold. Fall and Winter many cases are reported in this disease there is a slowly increasing illness from two to eight days after the child is exposed to it. The child becomes feverish and loses appetite. The child is with the sore throat. There are fever and discharge from the nose and hoarseness. After awhile gray patches appear on both sides of the throat.

When there is the least sign of any of these symptoms a doctor should be called at once. If he is called immediately he may be able to abort or control the disease.

Every mother should have her children protected from some of the contagious diseases by the preventive treatment which the family doctor can apply. Such precautions may be the means of saving your child from one of these dread diseases.

CORPORATION REPORTS SHOW DECREASE IN INCOME TAXES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Eaining reports of corporations for 1930 indicate the government's revenue from income taxes during the present fiscal year will be reduced between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000, it was estimated today.
Reduction of from 30 to 40 percent in profits was expected to cut the corporation tax by at least that figure. Corporation taxes made up more than half of the $2,410,900,000 income taxes collected during the year ending June 30, 1930.
Figures available at the treasury forecast in income tax revenue during the year ending June 30 of about $2,000,000,000, although the budget estimate placed it at $2,190,000,000.
During the first half of the present fiscal year $1,107,312,000 was collected in income taxes, the reduction in income taxes, the resulted chiefly from the one percent cut in taxes on 1929 incomes.
Of this sum $604,245,000 was in corporation and $503,066,000 in individual taxes.
Around $1,000,000 was anticipated by the treasury between January 1 and June 30. The first definite figures on tax collection on 1930.
Incomes will be available about the last of March, returns being due in the hands of internal revenue collectors, March 16, the ordinary collection date falling on Sunday.
According to the prospects the March collection will drop below
the $601,000,000 receipts of last March to somewhat more than $400,000,000. Income of 1930 will affect taxes for the last half of the 1931 fiscal year and the first half of the 1932 fiscal year. For the latter $2,260,000,000 in taxes
was estimated because of the abandonment of the one percent tax cut. The collection for the January 1-June 30 period this year will be on the basis of higher tax rates also.
How near the deficit will come to the $180,000,000 estimated by the budget bureau officials did not care to guess. In view of heavier congressional expenditures than were anticipated some experts considered likely a much larger deficit.
The treasury is now making arrangements for the refunding of over $1,000,000,000 in 3-1/2 per cent notes March 15. Indications point to extremely favorable money rates at that time. In view of the increase in the demand of banks for gold edge investments in the absence of commercial loans, officials anticipated that the new issue to replace the notes would be heavily oversubscribed even at a low rate. Long time bonds may be employed in the refunding operation.

PREPARATION COSTS MUCH

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A glance through statistics of the military strength of the world for 1930 reveals that twelve years after the war to end war armaments in every important country in the world, with the exception of Germany and Great Britain, are not only undiminished, but in many instances are larger than in 1913, which was the peak of sixty years of military competition.
Before the war the world's armaments cost $3,500,000,000 a year. Today they cost $5,000,000,000.
Since 1924 Italy, France, America and Russia have added $450,000,000 to their "defense" bills. Britain has reduced hers by $35,000,000.
Here are some of the facts about the navies of the world:
Since 1919 Italy has increased her cruiser tonnage by 40,000 tons; the United States by 15,000 tons; and Japan by 141,000 tons, while Britain's tonnage has been reduced 126,000 tons.
In the same period France has increased her submarine tonnage by 18,500 tons; Italy by 3,100 tons, and the United States by 47,700 tons. Britain reduced her tonnage 32,300 tons.

Did you ever stop to think

W. W. CANFIELD, EDITOR OF THE UTICA (N. Y.) OBSERVER-DISPATCH, SAYS:
"Did you ever stop to think what a miserably mean, cowardly, sneaking trick it is to pass along to another some harmful rumor you have heard from some one of small account about a bank, a business, some organization or fraternity, a man, a woman, a boy or a girl?"
"Did you ever stop to think, when you hear such a rumor, that it may be false? And did you ever turn to the person who poured it into your ears and the choice bit of scandal and ask him where he heard it, what evidence he had as to its truth, if he was prepared to testify as to the accuracy of the story he had told?"
"Did you ever turn to him and say, 'Come on, now, let's go to Smiths, whom you say told it to you, and ask where he heard it, and see if he is willing to go to the source of his information and together we ask the same question?'"
"Did you? No, probably not. The chances are that you might have hustled around the corner or hurried out to the back fence and gave the tale new wings to hustle it along on its evil course."
"I tried the plan of turning the question the other day to a man who had brought me a disturbing rumor about the integrity of a bank. He weakened immediately; explained that he 'had heard' some people talking about it and didn't know who they were; overheard it in a street car!"
"FROM STRANGERS. OF COURSE! HELL'S BROTH. WHAT A ROTTEN THING TO DO—PASS ON A STORY THAT MIGHT HAVE CAUSED A RUN ON A BANK. PROBABLY BROUGHT DISASTER TO THOUSANDS. WITHOUT ANY BASIS OF FACT!"

THESE four Ohio women will comprise the fourth group to receive the Master Farm Homemaker recognition, conferred annually by THE FARMER'S WIFE, the national farm women's magazine, St. Paul, Minn., with the co-operation of the home economics extension service of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Four Ohio Women Named Masters Of Homemaking

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—Announcement was made today of the names of the four rural Ohio women who are to receive recognition as Master Farm Homemakers at the Ohio State University here. The ceremonial is to be held on Feb. 2 and is to be a feature of the Farmers' Week program at the college.

Sponsored by The Farmers' Wife, a national farm women's magazine, with the co-operation of the Home Economics Extension Service of the Ohio State University, this is the fourth year that Master Farm Homemakers have thus been honored.

Women to be recognized this year are Mrs. Edwin C. Fisher of Wilmington; Mrs. W. G. Cochran of Sunbury; Mrs. Leslie F. Robertson of Haskins; and Mrs. F. M. Randolph of New Lexington.

Selection of this group was based on the way each woman had developed her farm home and managed it, on the health record and living habits of the family, the recreation afforded the family and upon the community work.

In addition to caring for the family and taking an active interest in community affairs, each of this group has contributed to family income. One of them Mrs. Fisher, has so managed her poultry that the flock earned $1,188.02 in 1929. Besides doing the work that falls to a homemaker on a farm of 188 acres, Mrs. Fisher finds time to take part in Home and School League affairs, to be active in her Sunday school and to be a director of the county Farm Bureau.

Homely girls have one advantage. According to the paper concerning agriculture, Mrs. Randolph, whose husband is a Master Farmer, has found a demand for her spare time. She lectures at Farmers' Institutes about 56 days each year. One of her children is an arts and dramatics teacher another is a student in the state university, and the third is in grade school.

Declaring her ambition was to see her family "as happy as their parents have been" Mrs. Robertson has encouraged her children to take advantage of all educational opportunities offered them and has seen four of them get college degrees. One of them is to enter college next fall, and another is a senior in college.

Fighting off adversity from the time she left her neighborhood school in West Virginia, Mrs. Cochran has succeeded in developing an ideal country home near Sunbury and in educating her family. Besides she has at times taken over full management of the farm. In 1911 her husband suffered a fractured hip in a runaway accident and could do nothing for a year. She took care of the farm that year, and because the injury has left Mr. Cochran in ill health, there have been many times when she was forced to help with general farm work.

The recognition here is one of 20 such state recognitions sponsored by The Farmer's Wife in co-operation with colleges of agriculture.

CANAL PROJECT BEING DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON—A delegation of Pittsburgh and Mahoning Valley backers of the Ohio River-to-Lake Erie canal planned a conference with Pennsylvania and Ohio Senators today, after reporting progress yesterday.

The delegation planned to ask the aid of the senators in expediting and securing a favorable report from Army engineers on the proposed canal.

A conference was held with Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, late yesterday. The importance of the improvement was urged, but it was explained it was chiefly a courtesy call. The visitors were hopeful the formal resolution of the house rivers and harbors committee, asking the report be expedited, would be helpful.

Ohio Boy is Healthiest

"My little son, Billy, had a bad case of measles," says Mrs. V. Sherman, 7027 Zoeter Ave., Cleveland. "He was having a hard time until I heard of California Fig Syrup and got him some. The first few doses regulated his bowels, brightened him up marvelously; even seemed to reduce his fever a great deal."

"I have since used Fig Syrup with Billy during colds or upsets. It has been a wonderful help to him; has assisted in making him the strong boy you see—perhaps the healthiest one in our neighborhood."

For more than fifty years, mothers have praised California Fig Syrup. Leading physicians advise its use with bilious, headachy, constipated children, or to keep the bowels open during colds or children's diseases. Children love its rich, fruity flavor. It tones and strengthens weakened bowels; helps make children robust.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.
